This Is PRINCETON

"I REMEMBER WHEN . . ."

Winter Recollections. Ask people how it used to be in Princeton at Christmastime, and they'll all tell you the same thing — it was colder and snowier, and there used to be exciting one-horse open sleigh races down Nassau Street on the hard-packed snow.

These races continued into the years when Princeton residents were driving cars, and the only thing that stopped them was this ridiculous idea of cleaning the streets of snow.

"I remember," says Miss Katherine Lyons, 242 Moore Street, "I remember after a good snowfall, standing on the corner by the Methodist Church and watching the horses come racing down Nassau toward Kingston. My, it was exciting!"

Miss Lyons herself was a sleigh-rider on occasion. Her father, John M. Lyons, owned Lyons Meat Market and he used to make winter deliveries of Christmas roasts and goose, in an open sleigh. After school when the deliveries were made for the day, he would let Katherine and her friends pile into the straw for a ride. "I can still smell the horse blankets and the straw . . ."

We Had Real Winters Then. A graduate of Princeton High School with the class of 1917, Miss Lyons remembers that, as a student, she skated almost every afternoon on Lake Carnegie, walking to the lake from school (where Nassau Street school is now) and then walking home to Bank Street.

"As a little girl, around 1910, I used to warm myself after skating at the little house on the canal where the bridge-tender lived. His wife had a roaring stove and she would let us come in to keep warm. Older children built bonfires all around the lake for warmth."

"It used to be really cold, and snowy," recalls Robert Mooney, Borough Administrator, whose father was Miss Lyons' cousin. "They didn't clear the streets the way they do now, and we'd walk to school along a path down the middle of the street — sometimes the snow could be up to our hips.

"And they ALWAYS held school, snow or not. It was open for whoever could get there, and teachers would double up three or four classes. But we WENT to school!"

Mr. Mooney was a great sledder, and he used to start at the eighth green at Springdale Golf Course and go zooming all the way to the brook near the 12th hole. He did some "baseball sledding," too — bounding down the sharp terraces that used to descend to Brokaw Field. "Sometimes I'd end up beyond first base with a broken sled."

Oysters, Piping Hot. Miss Marietta Attwood, 21 Morven Place, used to go on lots of sleigh rides. "The farmers around town had bunces — wagons put on runners — and they'd pack them with straw and blankets and off we'd go! You had to make reservations, it was so popular. Then afterwards, we'd come back, so cold and frosty, and have hot oyster stew to warm us up."

Almost everybody who IS anybody has skated to Kingston and Back, and J. Douglas Brown, Dean of the Faculty at Princeton, used to stop at the inn in Kingston to thaw out. "It was awfully cold, you know," he reminds.

Colder? No! But was it? Whenever anybody says to David Ludlum, Princeton's weatherman, "it was colder in the old days . . ." he replies, "you're crazy."

"Until 1890, winters were indeed cold and snowy," he explains, "but then a warming trend began which continued until 1940. After that, the swing went back to colder winters, and of course in the '60's, we've had a succession of snowy winters."

Miss Lyons will be happy to learn that the winter after she was graduated from Princeton High School — December, 1917 and January, 1918, to be specific — was just about the bitterest and coldest ever experienced in Princeton. The next year, however, there was no skating at all — mild as can be. Then the cold came back in 1920.

The biggest storm ever to hit Princeton came in February, 1899, a record month for snow. But the worst winter ever recorded for New Jersey was the winter of 1780 — the one Washington spent in Morristown. Nothing has ever equalled the two months of snow and cold that descended during that winter.

Christmas. Winter and Christmas have been bleak times in Princeton, especially during the '30's. Welfare was different then, and many an old-timer remembers filling Christmas baskets with coal, cans of food, groceries and clothing, and taking them "to the poor."

For prosperous families, Princeton was not the shopping community it is today, and Miss Jeanne M. Wright, 18 Marion Road West, remembers that she always went to New York for Christmas shopping.

Christmas giving was mod-

THE SNOW WAS DEEPER THEN: Were winters years ago colder and snowier than today? "This Is Princeton" has some answers.

THAT FAMOUS BLIZZARD: Huge drifts at Princeton Junction stalled trains on the Pennsylvania Railroad on March 12, 1888. Undergraduates at the College of New Jersey made their way out there with baskets of sandwiches, which they sold to stranded passengers for $1 apiece.

est "in those days," too. "We used to get one doll," Miss Lyons says, "or maybe a new wig for last year's doll."

"Not Even A Mouse." Christmas Eve, for Mr. Mooney, was the Lions' Club children's party held, not on Palmer Square, but in "Thomson Hall" auditorium ("Thomson Hall" is now Borough Hall.)

"They gave us candy canes," Mr. Mooney says, "and some kid would stand up on the stage and recite 'The Night Before Christmas' and forget his lines . . . "

Patients in Princeton Hospital — there were 12 beds in 1919 — always had a personal greeting form Curtis McGraw, president of the trustees, who made his rounds every Christmas Day, from 1947 to 1953, a custom which George W. Conover, the current president, will revive this year.

The memorable Christmas pageant was the one at Trinity Church, written and produced by Mrs. Henry Sayen. Miss Allwood remembers that the "baby" in the creche used to be simply an electric light bulb until someone gave the church a life-sized Infant Jesus to lay in the cradle. The children were enchanted. "Did you see the Baby Jesus?" the Rev. Arthur Lee Kinsolving asked his little daughter Anne. "Yes," she answered softly, "I touched him."

"... Pressures They Could Not Understand"

From the 1964 TOWN TOPICS Christmas Appeal:

"Three children, ranging in years from 7 to 13, and a dedicated father who has never wavered in his devotion are winning a courageous battle against alcohnlism. Although Mr. M.'s salary was adequate, Mrs. M. — frequently losing her pocketbook and often giving her money to others — permitted drinking to dominate her family's life to the degree that bills were never met and the children shriveled in the heat of pressures they could not understand. Month by month, ever since Mrs. M. made the decision to seek treatment, this family has been "on the way back." The children's records in school are improving, Mr. M. is gradually returning the household to his wife's control and, bit by bit, the outside help is being withdrawn as Mrs. M. regains her self-confidence."

Gifts from all parts of the Princeton community have been received during the past week to aid children whose lives have not known the normal degree of health and happiness. Three days before Christmas, the sum at hand was $2711.

The need is ever-present, and the Fund is in use under guidance of the Family Service Agency 12 months in the year. Contributions may be brought to 4 Mercer Street or mailed to P. O. Box 664, with checks made payable to TOWN TOPICS Christmas Fund.

ONLY $20,000 NEEDED

By United Fund. The United Fund-Red Cross campaign pounds on toward its goal, and Bernard Barenholtz, chairman, announced this week that the fund needs only $20,400 more.

University employees have over-shot their quota by contributing $38,427. The goal set for the University was $36,500. Carl Pope is University chairman of a committee consisting of J. Douglas Brown, Edgar Gemmell, Ricardo Mesires, Richard A. Lester, Alan S. Downer, George T. Reynolds and Richard H. Wilhelm.

The overall United Fund-Red Cross goal is $385,265. Anyone who has not yet contributed, or who would like to make an additional gift, may send checks to the United Fund-Red Cross Campaign, Box 201, Princeton.

ALL SET FOR CHRISTMAS

At Princeton Hospital Carolers from churches and other organizations have been singing at Princeton Hospital and Merwick for the past ten days.

Rainbow Girls have filled stockings with toys and special treats for child patients. Toys are being prepared by Cub Scout dens for underprivileged youngsters in the clinics. And the Princeton Chapter of the American Red Cross is making stockings as part of their traditional Yule effort for the hospital.

On Christmas Day, hospital patients and guests at Merwick will be visited by George W. Conover, Trustees' president; John W. Kauffman, administrator, Miss Jean Alito, head of nursing services, and Nathaniel J. McKee, general services director. They will present each patient and guest with gifts provided by the Women's Auxiliary, which uses its yearly dues for the project. They will also distribute the December issue of the hospital publication, "Broadcast."

Most visiting restrictions will be relaxed for the day. The dietary department has planned a Christmas feast and holiday favors.

TWO FOR SCHOOL BOARD

Five Township Places Open. David Brodsky, 463 Prospect Avenue, and Mrs. George Fremon, 311 Western Way, have filed petitions for election to the Township School Board for three-year terms.

There will be five Board vacancies to fill when elections come around in February, but so far, only two petitions have been received. Deadline is 4 p.m. Thursday, December 31, at the Stony Brook Administration Building.

Mr. Brodsky is assistant treasurer and controller of Educational Testing Service. Mrs. Freemon was vice-chairman of the Citizens' Advisory Committee on Long-range School Planning for the Township Schools.

Richard Pearson, Board president, announced Thursday night the resignation, effective immediately, of Donald Riddle, and the resignation, effective February 1, of A. Robert Trudel. Mr. Riddle has resigned because of the press of other duties and will not be replaced before election. Dr. Trudel, assistant director of the Forrestal Research Center, will be leaving Princeton for a new position.

To replace Messrs. Trudel and Riddle, the Board will need one two-year member and a one-year member. Robert Sinkler, who is filling an unexpired term, will not seek re-election; Richard Pearson, who has served two full terms on the Board, will not run for re-election, either. Leonard Hymerling, whose term is also expiring, has not yet announced whether he will run again.

To Discuss Merger? Mr. Pearson said on Thursday night that both Township and Borough Boards of Education are "receptive" to a proposal from all Borough and Township PTA's for a "public assembly" on January 20 to air the question of school merger.

In response to a letter from Mrs. Ralph Mason, Dr. John McKenna told the Board that the Township schools hoped to organize, with the Child Guidance Center, a complete diagnostic service and reading clinic for children severely disabled in reading — victims of "specific dyslexia," in Dr. McKenna's words.

Such a service would help children with physical problems in learning, rather than those with psychological or other difficulties.

The Board will hold a special public meeting on Thursday, January 7, so that it can tentatively adopt the 1965-66 budget.

BOARD NAMES EVANS

To School Business Post. William K. Evans, a member of the Borough Board of Education for the past three and one-half years, has been appointed the schools' first business manager.

He immediately resigned from the Board upon receiving his appointment at Monday's meeting. He assumes his new duties on February 1.

The two-year remainder of Mr. Evans' term will be filled at the school election on February 9. Board members whose three-year terms expire at that time are Dr. Henry Abrams, Mrs. Sarah Strayer and Byran V. Moore.

A cost accountant, Mr. Evans is at present with Cary Chemicals, Inc., where he has been establishing budgets and planning analyses. He was treasurer of the Tabulating Card Division, formerly of Princeton, and first cost accountant for Western Union Telegraph Company. At Johnson and Johnson, he developed materials for a cost reduction program which recevied national recognition.

One of 12 candidates reviewed by the Board, Mr. Evans is a graduate of the Wharton School of the University of Pennsylvania. He has been serving as finance chairman of the Board of Education.

The new post of business manager was established by the Board at its September meeting. The purpose is to assist Superintendent Chester Stroup in financial matters relating to the school system (currently operating on a $1,952,663 budget) and the planned $2.5 million elementary school.

DRIVER FINED, JAILED

For Wild Ride. A special session of Magistrate's Court was held Wednesday for Pvt. John H. Godshalk, 18, of 2 Windsor Drive, Princeton Junction, following his arrest the day before for leading the police in a dangerous 15-minute chase.

Godshalk was charged with two counts of reckless driving and as a disorderly person for failing to obey an officer's signal to stop and trying to avoid apprehension. Borough Magistrate Theodore T. Tams Jr. fined the defendant $25 and $5 costs on each of the reckless driving charges and revoked his license for two years. The disorderly person charge drew a one-day sentence in the Borough jail.

Godshalk had pleaded guilty to one of the reckless driving charges. Police also reported they had received orders from Ft. Dix, where Godshalk is stationed, to hold the defendant. Military authorities picked up Godshalk after he had served his one-day sentence.

The Godshalk vs. police episode began December 11 when Lt. Francis Maguire and Sgt. Arthur Gallant tried to check Godshalk's car at Nassau and Witherspoon Streets for having illegal alcholic beverages in it. But they reported Godshalk put his car in reverse, sped backwards between them, and escaped on Spring Street.

On Tuesday, four days later, Lt. Maguire spotted Godshalk getting into his car on Houghton Avenue after picking up a student at nearby Princeton High School. Lt. Maguire said he stationed himself at one end of the block and told Sgt. Gallant to guard the opposite end.

Emerging from his car, Lt. Maguire signaled Godshalk to stop. Instead, Godshalk, according to Maguire, accelerated and aimed his car directly at him. Fearful for his own safety, Lt. Maguire said he then drew his gun and later indicated he was going to use it, had Godshalk not veered off, 30 feet away down Walnut Lane. The police officers then gave chase in their patrol cars.

Godshalk, Lt. Maguire said, sped through a stop sign at Franklin and Walnut Lane at a time when the intersection was filled with students returning home from school. From there, the chase led through several Borough streets, to Nassau and then to Harrison. In open stretches, Maguire said Godshalk would "zig-zag" to prevent the patrol car from forcing him over.

At one point on Harrison, Sgt. Gallant and Godshalk were coming at each other head-on. On another occasion, in the narrow back farm roads in West Windsor Township, Godshalk avoided a truck across his path by swerving into a corn field. The chase finally ended when Godshalk sped into the driveway of his Princeton Junction home.

It was a reckless chase, according to Lt. Maguire, because traffic was heavy at many of the intersections and there were many children who might have been hurt. There was the chance of a serious accident and possible death every time Godshalk ran through a stop sign or red light or cut across oncoming traffic, he added.

The Proper Setting

A Christmas full of
Stars and snow
Lights up the world
And makes it glow.

There was good reason to believe that this will be a White Christmas. The Man admitted the snow fall would be light, but there was a good possibility that some would even arrive to mark Christmas Eve.

After that, it will be the stars' turn. Clear and seasonably cold Christmas Day, and through the weekend.

THEFT REPORT

Purses, Sofa, Car Taken. Two purses, three pieces of furniture and a car were among the items reported stolen last week to Borough and Township police.

On Saturday, Bertha Golden, 54, of Princeton Windsor Apartments told Township Police that her black leather purse had been stolen the day before while she was attending a party at the Textile Research Institute, Prospect Avenue. The purse, containing between $3 and $4, had been placed on a table in one of the Institute's rooms, she said.

The day before, Miss Carol Bogert of Doylestown, Pa., a nurse at Princeton Hospital, was the victim of purse snatchers. Miss Bogert told Borough police that as she was walking on Franklin Avenue about 7 p.m., two young men approached her on either side, grabbed her handbag and fled.

The furniture — a sofa and two chairs — was taken Wednesday from in front of 74 Clay Street. Mrs. Carolyn Adams reported she had placed them there before cleaning her living room rug. Before she had time to turn around, Mrs. Adams told police, they were gone. The three pieces were valued at $350.

Stewart Mittnacht, 64 Winfield Drive, reported his car stolen from in front of 295 Mercer Road, as he was attending a party there Saturday between 6 and 6:35 p.m. He told police there were no keys in the car but the ignition had been left in an "unlocked" position.

A few minutes before midnight Saturday, Borough Police received a report from the Elm Club, Prospect Avenue, that one of its cigarette machines had been broken into. Police said there were no signs of forced entry into the building.

FOUR WIN SCHOLARSHIPS

From Rhodes Foundation. Three Princeton undergraduates and one who received his degree here two years ago are among the 32 Rhodes Scholars named on Sunday. Each will receive annual stipends of $2,500 toward two years' study at Oxford University in England.

One of those chosen was William W. Bradley of Crystal City, Mo., Princeton's All-American basketball player. When he accepted, he removed himself from the ranks of potential professional basketball players next year and probable membership with the New York Knickerbockers.

The other Princetonians selected were Michael E. Smith, Darien, Conn., center on the championship Ivy football team and president of the Class of 1965; James M. Markham, Port Jervis, N. Y., a member of the Daily Princetonian, and Thomas B. Stoel, Portland, Ore., Class of 1962.

BIRTHS

Eighteen Born. Eleven boys and seven girls were born last week at Princeton Hospital.

Sons were born to Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Seip, 111 Taylor Avenue, Hightstown, December 14; Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Blosser, 180 Franklin Corner Road, Trenton, and Mr. and Mrs. Edison R. Morris, 110 Ingleside Avenue,

News Of The THEATRES

NO STRINGS?

Lots of Strings! According to the New York Times' critic, you aren't even aware of the strings when you watch the Salzburg Marionettes, and if you want to test the critic's judgement, try the Salzburgians when they come to Princeton for two McCarter performances on January 9.

For children, there will be a 2:30 matinee of "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" and for adults, there will be an evening performance (8:30) of Johann Strauss' "Die Fledermaus."

The Salzburg Marionettes were founded more than half a century ago by the Aicher family, and the descendants of the founders still run the show. The present impressario is Professor Hermann Aicher.

JANUARY'S COMING!

"Jubilee" at McCarter. Performers as varied as Dave Brubeck and Andres Segovia will troupe the McCarter stage during the "January Jubilee."

Senor Segovia will return to Princeton with his repertoire of classic guitar music on Thursday, January 14, and Senor Brubeck, joined by Paul Desmond, will make his return appearance on Saturday, January 16. Brubeck was last here three years ago.

Jose Limon will come to Princeton for the first time on Saturday, January 30, with his modern dance company of 28.

Film fans will have a go at Bogart again when the Bogart Retrospect resumes on January 6 with "Key Largo" and continues on January 13 with "Treasure of Sierra Madre." Sergei Eisenstein's "Alexander Nevsky" will ride into town on January 15, and just for contrast, there will be a "Mirth and Merriment Festival" on January 8, with Alec Guinness in "The Lavender Hill Mob" and a lot of short features.

"Persian Powder," a snow-and-ski-show, will be on Wednesday, January 27 at 8 p.m. John Jay is the photographer-lecturer.

PLAYHOUSE

Quo Vadis (through Wednesday), issued in 1951, has long since been topped by "Cleopatra" and "Mutiny on the Bounty" as the most expensive picture ever made. It is worth seeing purely as a spectacle. Its proportions are vast — from the architectural scale of ancient Rome and the fire that consumes it, to the 30,000 extras parading across the screen.

Robert Taylor and Deborah Kerr head a cast that is sometimes guilty of shoddy acting and often hindered by trite dialogue, but all that is lost in the turmoil of an ancient empire fascinatingly re - created on film.

Comment: topnotch epic.

Father Goose, (opens Christmas Day), Cary Gant portrays a real slob through most of this film, somewhat in the Humphrey Bogart tradition.

He's a derelict washed up on the shores of a Pacific island who is useful to Australian Commander Trevor Howard as a spy on the Japanese. His code name is "Mother Goose."

He soon has to rescue Leslie Caron and her seven schoolgirl charges, war refugees from Rabaul. The plot then becomes the old story of the missionary lady and the beach bum, which Grant's superb acting rescues from banality.

Anatomy of a Marriage (today through Wednesday) concerns the break-up of a shotgun marriage between a young French attorney and his wife, a former law student. The drama, written and directed by Andre Cayatte, is two separate yet complamentary pictures.

"My Days with Jean-Marc" tells the story of the couple's courtship, marriage and separation through the eyes of the woman. "My Nights with Francoise" covers the man's point of view.

Cayette's scheme in analyzing the marriage in two separate films causes a certain amount of repitition in incidents. Sometimes the accounts of the same occurrence are contradictory in vital details. Who is lying? The spectator must decide for himself.

The film is in French, with English sub-titles.

Emil and the Detectives (opens Christmas Day). This is an imaginative satire on the foreign intrigue and private eye themes. It is a family show, spiced with humor and action.

Ten-year-old Emil, played by Bryan Russell, falls asleep on a bus bound for Berlin, and an underworld character heists the money pinned in Emil's pocket. The boy teams up with some pint-sized sleuths. They find themselves pitted against the notorious "Three Skrinks," played by Walter Slezak, Heinz Schubert and Peter Ehrlich.

Put your money on the youngsters.

ghost of the tragic Thomas Wolfe.

The plot is concerned with a young Kentuckian who drives a coal truck days and writes nights. He is brought to New York, given a contract for his first novel and a sizeable advance. He becomes involved with a socialite who dabbles in the arts and cheats on her husband. The story becomes a study in destructive love.

James Franciscus, TV's "Mr. Novak," plays the title role. The formidable Geraldine Page is the socialite. Others in the excellent cast are Suzanne Pleshette as the earnest copy editor, Eva Gabor, Mary Astor and Lee Bowmann.

There is some crackling dialogue, fine photography, but the film leaves you untouched by its tragedy.

SUMMER IN THE DELL

At Washington Crossing. Spurred by last summer's successful production of Shaw's "The Devil's Disciple" in the amphitheatre at Washington Crossing State Park, a group calling itself the Washington Park Citizens Committee has formed to repeat the success next summer and, hopefully, continuing summers.

We Want Artur!

Nobody knows exactly why Artur Rubinstein has never played in Princeton, but obviously he should have long ago. Because when tickets went on sale for his February 23 recital, McCarter's box-office broke its single-day record.

Three box - office employees took in $3,000 in over-the-counter sales alone and the lobby had a line of patrons all day long the first day. "I have never," says Nancy Shannon, general manager for McCarter, "seen anything like it."

Dillon Gym being the size it is, there are still plenty of seats available in all price categories, so there is no need for SRO panic.

The Citizens plan to offer plays, a musical comedy, serious music by talented musicians in the area, band concerts and good entertainment, generally. The season will extend from May until September 30.

The enthusiasm of the group has already been infectious. Dirk Van Domellen, superintendent of the Park, has said that he will carve out better terraces in the amphitheatre, arrange the stage to better advantage and run electricity into the little dell.

At a meeting held Thursday, Edgar Lewis, acting president of the Citizens Committee, appointed a committee of five to schedule events for the season. They are Arno Safran, chairman; Mrs. Vaughn Culler, Jack Rees, Mr. Van Domellen and Josephine Birchfield.

Frank Quinn, Donald Tome, and Mitchell Carter Jr. have been appointed to a public relations committee. Clarke Newman will be in charge of membership assisted by Gerald Loustalot and George Heffernan. Raymond Wesner will be chairman of budgets and finance.

Dues are $2 per year per family. Anyone wishing to join may write to Mr. Newman, 112 River Drive, Titusville, New Jersey. Additional information about the purposes of the Citizens' group may also be obtained from him.

ALYEA WILL LECTURE

At Junior Museum. Prof. Hubert N. Alyea of Princeton University's department of chemistry will deliver a lecture and demonstration for area children at Frick Hall at 2 on Tuesday, December 29.

The demonstration is the Junior Museum's second annual Christmas lecture and will be entitled "Lucky Accidents, Great Discoveries and the Prepared Mind." Dr. Alyea, who has spoken about chemistry to audiences throughout the world, will demonstrate how important scientific experiments have resulttd from accidents.

Children in grades four through eight are invited to attend and reserved seat tickets are available at the museum in Borough Hall. The lecture series is modeled after a program begun by Michael Faraday in the 19th century London.

Among the experiments Dr. Alyea will demonstrate are the discovery of plastic and the discovery of penicillin. An important segment of the lecture will involve a demonstration of the difference between a chemical reaction and an atom bomb reaction.

During the weekend, the Museum will feature "A Holiday of Film Festival," short movies from the Princeton Public Library. A program for younger children will be shown at 1.30 Saturday and Sunday and will include "The Princess and the Dragon," a color film with animated puppets. Older children and adults are invited to see "Universe," a film on modern astronomy which will be shown at 3.

Regular hours for the Museum are 9:30 to 4:30 Saturday, and 1 to 4 p.m. Sunday.

BUT IT'S MY BOAT!

(And I'll Dock it Wherever I Like!) Princeton's beleagured boat-owners, confronted with the revised Township Zoning Ordinance which would prohibit the open-air storage of boats in places like driveways and back yards, won a delaying action Thursday night when the Planning Board agreed to send parts of the ordinance — including the boat provision — back to the zoning sub-committee for "restudy."

The sub-committee also got back part of the new educational zone provision on married student housing, and some definitions to clarify: "restaurant," and "farming," to name two.

Carnegie Lake sailors were the ones who protested the boat provisions most strenuously, and one of their most outspoken spokesmen was Robert C. Axtmann, 272 Hartley, who said that, if the new ordinance were passed, all kinds of things might be barred from the outside of houses: basketball backboards, tree houses, tents, second cars, clotheslines and even red doors.

Harry L. Cooke, 144 Sycamore, who used to command the Princeton Flotilla of the U.S. Coast Guard Reserve, also protested the measure.

Thursday night's meeting was the second of two public hearings on the new ordinance. About a dozen people attended, mostly sailors or lawyers representing clients. Some of them also protested against the part of the ordinance that puts all educational institutions in the Township, except the University, back in the "residential" category.

The Planning Board has done this in order to keep a small campus from suddenly putting up a high-rise apartment for faculty or students, in the heart of a residential district.

William H. Cherry, 24 Dempsey Avenue, said this provision discriminated in favor of the University, and he suggested that there was nothing to prevent the University from building "a forest of laboratories" on its open space and playing fields.

John Moran, of the University's planning office, said this was most unlikely.

Gordon Griffin, Township attorney, reminded Mr. Cherry that a 150-foot setback around the periphery of the educational zone was required to protect the adjoining residential zone.

"You can't apply such things as side-and-rear-lot lines, open space or height to an internal campus arrangement," Mr. Griffin said. "If the University goes out into the single-family residential district to build houses, then it must conform to lot lines like everybody else."

He suggested that the proposed Township regulation made more sense than the present Borough situation. In the Borough, the University is in a residential zone and must constantly appear before various Borough bodies for variances. "This is not in accordance with reality," Mr. Griffin commented.

THREE ARE FINED

For Careless Driving. Township Magistrate James S. Hill fined three Princeton area residents last week for careless driving.

They are John H. Sweitzer, 26, 60 Balsam Lane, $10; Jay F. Seyfarth, 17, 84 Main Street, Kingston, $15; and Mary L. Bakely, 17, Belle Mead, $20. All pleaded guilty.

In criminal court, George McGowan, 246 John Street, pleaded not guilty to a charge of assaulting his wife. He was fined $40 and $10 court costs.

TO SPEAK ON AFRICA

Before Rotarians. Horace F. Byrne, foreign service officer just returned from Port Elizabeth, South Africa, will address the luncheon meeting of Rotary next Tuesday.

Mr. Byrne has served with the state department in China, Iran, Iraq, Lebanon and the Sudan as well as in South Africa, and he will speak to Princeton's Rotarians on the United States in Africa.

Mrs. Alfred H. Sommer

CHAIRMAN NAMED

For Field Service Committee. Mrs. Alfred H. Sommer of Moore Street has been appointed chairman of the Princeton committee of the American Field Service.

Other committee members are Mrs. Paul Bortell Jr., Mrs. F. O. Keizer, Harry Volweider, Mrs. Lyle C. Fitch, Mrs. Harold Warner, D. O. North, Mrs. Roger Newcomer, Mrs. J. V. A. Fine and Mrs. D. O. Walsted. Members will seek area residents willing to house foreign students who are visiting Princeton in the field service exchange program.

Families who wish to apply should contact the committee before the end of the month. Application forms may be obtained from Mrs. W. N. Baker at Miss Fine's School and from Miss Antonia Vajk or Donald Brown at Princeton High School.

TWO MEN DIE HERE

Of Heart Attacks. A Pennington carpenter and a mason from Trenton died here last week of heart attacks.

Thomas F. Gorman, 56, 13 Burd Street, Pennington, died Thursday from a heart attack as he was driving on Route 517 near the RCA Laboratories. His car then crashed into a tree.

Witnesses reportedly saw Mr. Gorman, alone, slump over the wheel before his car veered off the road. He was pronounced dead on arrival at Princeton Hospital.

A carpenter, Mr. Gorman had been employed for many years by William C. Ehret, contractor. At the time of his death, he was employed on the improvement of the sewage disposal plant in Hightstown.

Last Wednesday, Ptl. Theodore Lewis of the Borough police investigated a report that a man had fallen on Prospect Avenue. Upon his arrival, he found the body of William W. Smith, 57, of Trenton.

According to the police report, fellow workers of Mr. Smith reported he had suddenly gasped, "Oh, my God!" and collapsed. The victim, a mason, had been working on curbing in front of the Woodrow Wilson building being constructed on the corner of Prospect Avenue and Washington Road.

Dr. Leonard Berry was called and he pronounced Mr. Smith dead.

. . . FOR THE FAMILY

Sports at Recreation Center. Golfers, fishermen and picnickers will be able to start right in next spring on the facilities at the new Stony Brook Recreation and Golf Center, Pennington. Ground was broken for the new Center this week.

Within its 72 acres there will be an 18-hole, par-61 golf course; double-decker driving range with hole-in-one target area, a miniature golf course (with Colonial motif), putting green, paddle tennis courts, shuffleboard, a three-acre pond stocked with fish in summer and ice in winter for skaters, snack bar, picnic area and playground for the children.

All this will be ready next spring except the 18-hole golf course which is scheduled for completion by the spring of 1966. Many parts of the Center will be illuminated for night games, including the golf course, driving range, miniature golf, putting green, pad-

"Determined" Home-Owners

To The Editor of Town Topics:

In his recent letter to Town Topics, Mr. Lenhart showed his ability in his chosen field of public relations, sales promotion and advertising I regret being unable to be as creative in getting over some of the other opinions not touched upon by the gentleman. However, I am not writing to sell or promote . . . rather, I'm just not buying . . . not buying some of his statements that border on pure fantasy.

Stating, as he does, that additional traffic generated by having the Post Office on Harrison St. will not be a major problem; that the Post Office will not be detrimental in any way to that particular area; that traffic will merge into the general flow of traffic unnoticed; that once operative, the new Post Office will conduct its activity almost unnoticed by the public, is indeed good fantasy better suited for an advertising campaign rather than for informing the public.

No one, least of all, I, will deny a new P.O. is badly overdue. But, I question the motives of the Post Office Operating Committee and the Chamber of Commerce in trying to push it into a zoned residential area and saying, "No other location in the Princeton Community better suits this purpose."

Come now, gentlemen, this area being mostly composed of low cost and medium cost housing is a natural "patsy" when you want to find an area to invade with just such a purpose as yours. Naturally the people around here won't fight back as those in a high-cost housing area might. Also the latter usually have more influence to stop such an invasion and so you have to go find the spot that is easiest to penetrate and have the zoning laws "bent" a little if you can.

Can't you just see the Pennington-Hopewell Road or the Brookstone Area being targeted as the logical choice for location of such a magnificent edifice as a post office that is likened unto the invisible man . . . ie. hardly be noticed once operative.

Anyone having to cross by foot or by car Valley Rd.-Harrison and Hamilton-Harrison several times a day knows what traffic is now generated, especially during those hours of going and coming from work, school, etc. Just three blocks away from this proposed site is to be the new Borough School going up next year, on Walnut Lane.

On Page 17 of the Fact Book on Princeton (compiled and published by Lenhart & Co.) under "Planning & Zoning, etc.," is this, "While some changes have been made to accommodate certain types of light industry and a small number of multiple dwellings, the community is determined that the basic residential quality of the Township will be maintained." You just bet we are determined, gentleman!

Pool Needs Pressure

To the Editor of Town Topics:

I am sure Mayor Patterson is mistaken (Town Topics, December 17) in thinking that public pressure for a pool is a disservice to a Recreation Body.

I was a member of the Township Recreation Commission for five years, and nothing would have pleased us more. In fact, Mayor Wilson told us time and time again that only strong public pressure would convince Borough and Township officials of the need for a pool.

ELIZABETH B. FINE
(Mrs. John V. A. Fine)

"False Claim" Slows Pool.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Once again Mayor Wilson makes the false claim that a public swimming pool in '65 is an "engineering impossibility." Then he mixes non-engineering factors such as land acquisition and operating costs with real engineering factors to fog the issue.

The land does not have to be acquired; it is already available. Operating cost figures can be closely approximated by any reputable pool builder from a wealth of experience. And so on down the line.

Drawing plans (some have been made) and surveying the ground and moving earth are all things in which Americans take a great deal of justified pride. Men, money and machinery can do it and do it fast. But obviously, what is first needed is a decision, and decision is not what our local governing bodies are much good at.

Mayor Patterson decries pressure on his (and Mr. Wilson's) Recreation Commissioners. He might find them less subject to "suspicion and pressure" from ordinary citizens if the two mayors told them to get moving.

We want action, not excuses. We want forward motion, not more study. How many committees and consultants have piled how many reports how high over the years? Now, says Mrs. Schoch, the Commissioners are reviewing (for how long?) the plan made by the professional consulting firm last year (at what cost?) and will schedule projects "in accordance with needs of the community" (who decides what the community 'needs'?) A lot of us say we need a pool and we need it this year.

The real issue is whether our "leaders" are willing to lead forward or consider their real task to be one of protecting the status quo.

Tribute to the Hospital.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

It is unfortunate that some Princetonians have little appreciation of the excellence and high standards prevalent at our Princeton Hospital which, on the basis of personal experience and some general knowledge, I believe compares favorably with any community hospital in the country.

Like many Princetonians, when anything very serious happened to me, I used to feel obliged to take off for Boston, Philadelphia or Rochester. Thus, in 1950, when I first suffered from Hodgkins Disease, I went to a great university hospital for treatment. But recently, when the disease again became active, I decided to remain in Princeton. Here the treatment, with the most advanced therapy, was just as good — and I am happy to say just as successful — as on the first occasion.

The main point of my story is this: at a crucial stage in my illness, the availability of the latest modern facilities here in Princeton and their prompt use made it possible to meet successfully a grave crisis. This occurred in the middle of one night, at an hour when in great city hospitals the doctor is usually many miles away.

My urgent call to the nurse brought my physician to my bedside in a few minutes. Within the next half hour, I had a chest X-Ray and an electrocardiagram, was put in oxygen and transferred to the Intensive Care Unit where my pulse and heart beat — excessively rapid at times — could be continuously recorded by electronic monitoring equipment (donated, incidentally, by the Hospital Aid Committee).

An hour later, fluid was removed from the space around my heart and I began to feel better. A chemical agent was then instilled in this space to prevent further accumulation of fluid. Appropriate therapy followed and a few weeks later I was able to leave the hospital.

I only venture to give these details because they serve to show what kind of a hospital we have here in Princeton. My case is not unique.

Similar incidents recur almost daily, but unfortunately remain known to only a few. They happen because of efficient collaboration: a matter of proper medication, skilled personnel, the latest equipment and, above all, a modern hospital admirably organized for

In the Township, three of the vacancies will be filled for three-year terms, one for a two-year period and the last for a term of one year. All three positions on the Borough Board are for three-year periods.

Elections will be held on Tuesday, February 9. Nominating petitions may be obtained at the board offices.

NO VIN ORDINAIRE?

We Drink to Music. The delights of wine and music will be combined when eight Princeton wine connoisseurs do some festive wine-tasting early in the new year for the benefit of the Princeton Symphony Orchestra.

No date has been set, but the eight have met to choose the vintages, and perhaps to do a little rehearsing. Consultant for the affair is Walter Gellner of Community Liquors.

The wine-tasters are Christian H. Aall, M. L. Balinski, William J. Baumol, Paul Benacerraf, Samuel G. Frantz, Barklie Henry, James J. Kerney Jr. and Lucius Wilmerding III.

Question of the Week

Question: Who do you think will win the National Football League playoff game between the Colts and the Browns and by what score?

Where asked: Around town.

Peter DiDonato, 61 Leigh Avenue, PHS sophomore: Colts. They have a better defense. The Colts are more fancy with the offense, too, with Unitas in there. I say the score will be about 35 to 24.

Robert Newcamp, Trenton, PHS senior: The Colts—I've been behind them all year. They have more scoring power. It'll be Colts, 30; Browns, 24.

Eric Chase, Brown Hall, University freshman: The Browns — mainly because of Jimmy Brown. They seem to be pretty equal otherwise. The Colts have the edge in passing but I still feel Jimmy Brown will be the difference. I say it will be 33 to 25, Browns.

Bill Babuschak, Yardley, Pa., bridgeman: If I had any money I'd put it on the Coalts. I think Unitas' passing will overshadow Brown's running. It should be close, though, about 35-33.

John Marcus, 77 Grover Avenue, maintenance, Institute for Advanced Study: The Browns. They have better runners in Brown and Scales, a better line, a better coaching staff—they're just an all-round better team. Plus, they have the best field goal kicker in the league in Lou Groza. The score? It'll be about 24 to 10.

Peter Dumpel, 44 Moore Street, PHS junior: The Colts. They have the strongest team in the league. I think Unitas throwing and Ray Berry catching is the best combination there is. You can't win 10 straight like the Colts and not be favored to win the title game. I think the Colts are bound to win, probably by a 21-17 score.

Bob Daniels, 1 Maple Terrace, PHS junior: I believe the Browns will win. They are good enough offensively with Jimmy Brown to get within the Colts' 30-yard line consistently and Groza is probably the best field goal kicker in the league. The Browns are good defensively, too. They might have a little trouble handling Unitas, but he could be injured early in the game. I'll say 20-10 Browns.

Matt Handelsman, 27 Tyson Lane, PHS junior: I think it will be close because the Colts have Unitas and Berry and the Browns have Jimmy Brown. Both have good defenses so I say at the end of regulation time the score will be tied. But since a championship game can't end in a tie I believe the Browns will win it on the strength of Lou Groza's toe.

Russell Meek, Princeton University freshman: The Browns will take it but the score will be close—about 24-21. I feel the Browns have a better team. Offensively, they have a slight edge because of Jimmy Brown. They have a good passer in Ryan, too.

David Inglesby, Harbourton, electrician: I think the Browns will win. I saw them beat the Giants last week and after the first quarter they were simply fabulous. There isn't a team in the league that could have touched them then. Against the Colts, though, I think it will be close. No more than three points difference.

Casey Sikorski, Trenton, ironworker: Personally, I think the Colts are a better team. They have a better defensive line and a better passer in Unitas. I have faith in Unitas and faith in the Baltimore coaching staff. The score? I don't know what it will be other than I think it will be a high scoring game and that Baltimore will win by at least two touchdowns.

John MacDonald, Cranbury student at Perkiomen: The Colts because, offensively, for one thing, they have Unitas and Moore and, two, the Browns are only half as good defensively as the Colts. Score, 30 to 16.

Jack Barclay, Cranbury, student, Lawrenceville School: Colts. Defensively they are going to stop Jimmy Brown. The Colts have Lenny Moore and Unitas, passing. The score should be about 28-24.

Jack Ainsworth, Penns Neck, PHS senior: The Browns — they've got more power, better runners and better line. The Colts will take them in passing but the Browns will get all the yardage. I say it will end 24 to 14.

Dwight Ellis, Groton, Conn., student at Belmont Hill School, Mass. here for Lawrenceville hockey tourney: The Colts. They've looked better than the Browns have all year. They have beaten teams that have beaten Cleveland. The score: 32 to 21.

Norb H. Unger, Arlington, Mass., Belmont Hill School: I think the Browns are going to win it. They've come all the way all season and I think they are going to be up for that game more than the Colts. You're not going to keep guys like Jimmy Brown and Ryan down. The Browns also have a tremendous defense. I think it will be a high scoring game with Cleveland on top, 28-21.

Paul Vernaglia, Medford, Mass., Belmont Hill School: 35-10 Colts. The Colts have Unitas, Moore, Berry and Tony Lorrick. Cleveland has Jimmy Brown. Nothing else!

TIGERS GARDEN-BOUND Face Syracuse Monday. As it has even since Bill Bradley enrolled at Princeton, basketball history will be made Monday when the Tigers play their first regularly-scheduled game in Madison Square Garden, New York's 18,000-seat auditorium put the sport on the intercollegiate map three decades ago when Ned Irish proved that doubleheaders could draw capacity crowds in the face of a gnawing depression.

A dozen years ago, the Eastern College Athletic Conference staged the first of a series of attractive Holiday Festivals, and through the years the most valuable player award has gone to such names as Bill Russell, Tom Gola, Oscar Robertson and Jerry Lucas. If Bradley's supporting cast lives up to its potential, the Princeton captain might win the award for 1964.

The Tigers should go into the first round a slight favorite, and unless the awesome surroundings bring the sophomores down with a game-long case of stage fright, odds are they'll win. Their opponent is Syracuse, which has found the early-season going rougher than expected and is foundering below the .500 mark after its first five games.

Princeton met the Orange last winter in the Miami Tournament and was headed for victory with a nine-point lead when Bill Bradley fouled out. That turned the tide, Syracuse rallying for a 76-71 decision.

Dave Bing, a 6-3 guard, is the best all-around Syracuse player. The Orange has good height, numbering four players 6-6 or better on its squad of ten lettermen, but hasn't produced the team-play requisite to smooth performances to date.

If Princeton wins Monday (game-time 4 p.m.), it will face the winner of the Michigan-Manhattan contest the following Wednesday. It will be a major upset if the Wolverines, currently No. 1 nationally, are defeated by either Manhattan or Princeton — should the Tigers get by Syracuse.

Princeton will play a third game in the tournament on Saturday, January 2, only if it wins one of its first two. Cincinnati is the other entry whose eventual triumph in the Festival would prove no surprise.

The eight-team field is rounded out by Temple, which meets Cincinnati in the first round, and by St. John's and LaSalle, the final pairing. An off-the-cuff guess is that the Tigers will defeat Syracuse, lose to Michigan and then meet St. John's for third place. The best basketball of which they are capable could win that one for them.

Defeat In St. Louis. The story of the 90-71 defeat at the hands of nationally-ranked St. Louis University smacked of last year. Bradley had 34 but nobody else wearing Orange and Black was in double figures.

Sixty-one fouls and a technical against Bill van Breda Kolff were called in the game, which tonk almost two hours to complete because of the constant parade to the free-throw line. Six players, Bradley and Robby Brown plus four from St. Louis, drew the maximum of five apiece — Brown six minutes before the first half ended.

Although they never led, the Tigers were even on five occasions in the first half, walking off the floor with a 39-39 deadlock to their credit. The second half then saw them fail to maintain the pace as they went scoreless from the floor for the first ten minutes and hit on only 24% of their field goal attempts after the intermission.

Bradley made 16 consecutive free throws before he missed one and then finished with 20 out of 21 to set a record for foul shots made against St. Louis. However, doubleteamed by a pair of players his own height, he hit on only seven of 18 from the floor.

Trouble was that no one else could take advantage of the concentration St. Louis turned on the All-American. Brown made only four points before he fouled out; Ed Hummer contributed eight as his replacement and Gary Walters could connect on only two field goals on his outside shooting. He added five fouls to fall just short of double figures.

TIGERS LOSE ALL THREE On Hockey Trip. A pair of 4-3 defeats a 6-1 loss, the latter to the top team in the east, was the fate of the Princeton hockey team in games played away from home last week.

SCHOOLBOY ALL-AMERICAN: Like Bill Bradley, 6-6 Ed Hummer attained All-American status in high school. He's given the Tigers good bench strength in his sophomore season.

By JOHN F. BERNARD

Did you know that the body you are carting around is one of three general types? Square, stocky bodies of average height are called "mesomorph"; those which are softly rounded are known as "endomorph" and "ectomorphs" are of the lean, fragile and tall variety . . . If you happen to visit Amsterdam (in the Netherlands) you may be surprised to note that the public phone booths are segregated by sexes. . . .

No matter what type of body happens to be yours it requires ample insurance protection. So do all the other valuable factors in your life. See STURHANN, DICKENSON & BERNARD, 15 Chambers St., Princeton, N.J. for the finest insurance coverage available. Call 921-6880 for consultation.

Northeastern and Colgate were both victors over the Tigers. The 6-1 decision won to Boston University, which recorded its eighth straight victory this season at the Tigers' expense. The Terriers were voted by hockey coaches as potentially the best team in this section of the country, and appear likely to make the prediction stand up.

If the outcome of the game was disappointing to Coach Norm Wood, he had reason to be well satisfied with the newfound depth shown by the Tigers. In the Northeastern and Colgate contests, four of the six Princeton goals were credited to the third line.

Sophomore Gordon Gladman, who rarely catches the eye until he has proved to have been in just the right place to shoot, contributed one goal against Northeastern and two against Colgate. Charlie McMillan, who skates on the same line with Gladman and senior George Peterson, also scored against Northeastern, with Gladman assisting.

It was a slightly different story against B.U., which dominated play throughout. Steve Cook, wing on the first line, averted a shutout for the Tigers.

Princeton will be out of action until New Year's Day, when it plays in the first annual Nichols School Tournament in Buffalo, an affair scheduled to dedicate a new rink. Dartmouth, defending Ivy champion, will be the Tigers' opponent in the first round, with Yale meeting Williams. Action concludes Saturday night, January 2, with the victor in the Dartmouth-Princeton game facing Yale, a sure-fire bet over Williams.

IACAVAZZI A JET

Signs with New Yorkers.

Most pro scouts say he won't, Dick Colman says he will. The debate is on Cosmo Iacavazzi's ability to make it as a professional next fall with the New York Jets of the American Football League.

The captain of Princeton's unbeaten Ivy champions signed last week with the Jets as a free agent, after none of the AFL teams had drafted him. He thus turned down a chance to go with the Minnesota Vikings, the National Football League team which chose him in the 20th — and final — round.

No one doubts Iacavazzi's ability. The question is whether his 5-11, 195-lb. frame can carry the mail in pro football as a halfback, which he will be with the Jets because fullbacks must weigh upwards of 220.

The scouts, in effect, said "no" when they did not recommend him in the draft. Colman says they're dead wrong: "If they ever open up a gap for Cosmo, no one is going to stop him. They choose backs for pass defense, not for stopping runners like Cosmo in the open field."

CONFERENCE HEAD: R. Kenneth Fairman, Director of Athletics at Princeton, has been elected president of the 144-member Eastern College Athletic Conference for 1965. The nation's largest, it was organized in 1938.

The Princeton coach said earlier of Iacavazzi, "He's the finest ball carrier I have ever seen in a game or in the many films of other colleges we screen. He has extreme balance and ability to change direction without losing speed."

While the Tiger captain said he preferred the American Football League because "it is young, and I think I can make my mark sooner," another important factor helped dictate his choice. Playing for the Jets, he will be able to continue his study in aeronautical engineering in Princeton as a post-graduate. No similar opportunity was open to him in Minnesota.

PHS STOPS PENNINGTON

At Asbury Park Saturday, Pete Heiberger, Colin Leitch and Wilbur Hines led Princeton High School to a 68-59 victory over visiting Pennington Friday evening, squaring the Little Tigers' record at 2-2.

The only activity ahead for PHS during the holiday break will take place Saturday, when coach Tony Borzok and his squad returns to Asbury Park to play the second game of the Asbury Park round robin. Two weeks ago, in the first round, Asbury Park defeated Princeton, 79-65. The team was scheduled to play its final regular season game of December at Hightstown on Tuesday.

The only players to score in double figures in all four PHS games to date, Heiberger, Hines and Leitch led the way over the Pennington Bulldogs as they combined for 45 points. Heiberger and Leitch each tallied 16 while Hines hit for 13.

After an even first period (10-10) the home team pulled ahead to 29-23 at the half and increased its margin to 44-31 after three periods. In the final quarter, Pennington switched to a full court press but managed to outscore the Blue and White only by one.

The losers did not make a single substitution, four of their iron five hitting for double figures. Others helping Princeton's cause were Roger Madden and Mike Underwood, eight points each, and Tony Adams, six.

BELMONT HILL WINS

In Lawrenceville Tourney. A 3-2 victory over defending champion Andover in the final game gave Belmont Hill its first title in a dozen years in the Lawrenceville School Invitation Hockey Tournament.

The victors trailed twice in the game Saturday in Baker Rink, Andover taking leads of 1-0 and 2-1 in each of the first two periods. Belmont Hill tied the score for the second time shortly before the second round ended, and then accounted for the only goal in the final round.

On its way to the championship game, the Massachusetts skaters defeated the Nichols School, 2 to 1, and blanked Taft, 6-0. Andover topped Choate, 5-3, in the opening round and then edged St. Paul's, 2 to 1, in the semi-finals.

St. Paul's won third place in the tournament with a 4-3 triumph over Taft. Fifth place went to Milton, which defeated Nichols, 6-4. Choate won seventh place with a 4-0 victory over the host school, Lawrenceville.

Raymond Gaskill III will be two years old this month—thanks to Marie Cornew and Harriet Jones.

Nearly two years ago when he was eleven weeks old, Raymond suddenly stopped breathing. Frantically his mother picked up the phone, dialed "Operator," and cried that she needed an ambulance. She then hung up before the operator, Mrs. Marie Cornew, could ask for her name and address.
The operator had not released the answering cord on the switchboard and called back immediately. She got the name and address — then began telling the mother how to give mouth-to-mouth resuscitation to the child.
The operator then signaled Mrs. Harriet Jones, her supervisor, who called an ambulance. During this frantic time Mrs. Cornew kept repeating instructions on mouth-to-mouth breathing to Raymond's mother.
Thanks to this first-aid advice, Mrs. Gaskill succeeded in reviving her son before the arrival of the ambulance, which took him to a hospital.
The family doctor said later that the operator's help had saved Raymond's life.

Emergency calls like this are handled by many operators. They are especially trained to give fast, efficient service — and help in a crisis. We know that good phone service depends on more than good equipment. It depends on good people. It's our duty to make certain you are served by both.

How much. . .do you really know about Waving?

Do you know what a Custom Permanent can do for your hair. . .as well as what an ordinary Permanent does to the hair. . .the precautions that must be taken if the hair is tinted or bleached?

In 1954 Dr. Linus Pauling received the Nobel Prize in Chemistry—his research proved that human hair consisted almost entirely of Protein (97%) and not calcium as was previously supposed.

Further research by Biochemist, Dr. Jheri Redding, based on Dr. Pauling's discovery has brought forth a new concept of revitalizing the hair during the actual curling and coloring process. Are you receiving the benefits of the Miracles of Modern Science . . .or are you just "limping" along (i.e. with limp lifeless hair) horse-and-buggy fashion?

The tableau was first presented in 1957, and according to the pastor, the Rev. Curtis Hoffman, "there is always a waiting list of people who want to take part. There's something about participating that seems to capture an individual. I've had members say that this has given Christmas a new meaning."

It has become a custom for Hopewell parents to drive their children to see the Living Nativity on Christmas Eve.

Mrs. Steve Rigo is in charge of the cast, which ranges from junior high school age to adults. A different unit appears each evening. The donkey in this year's scene is "Coco," loaned by J. Merrill Knapp.

Participants include John Vandewater, Dolores Briggs, Sharon Holley, Tom and Wendy Cranstoun, Becky Hoffman, Pat and Scott Dansberry, Hart Cromwell, Harlan Butt, Dave Bogia, Iva and Delvert Conover, Ann and Stokes Walker, and Alan Dansberry.

BULLETIN NOTES

Church Universal. The Rev. Dr. John A. Mackay, president emeritus of Princetoo Seminary, is the author of a new book, "Ecumenics: The Science of the Church Universal," published by Prentice-Hall. The book, reviewed by Mrs. Janet Harbison in Presbyterian Life, is a "banquet of fact, idea and opinion," written by "an experienced road-man, who has always had a horror that the church might settle down in a comfortable corner and fail to walk the dusty, rough, uncertain and risky way of the pilgrim." Dr. Mackay was the original incumbent of the Seminary's chair of ecumenics, first such post in a major American seminary.

Dance. The Senior Highs of Lawrence v i l l e Presbyterian Church plan a Christmas dance from 9 until midnight Monday at the church. Warren Nutt's orchestra will provide the music.

Methodist Youth. The new manger scene on the lawn of Princeton Methodist Church is the handiwork of the Youth Fellowsbip, headed by Ellen Spinner, president, and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Keeton, advisors. The lighted star on the bell tower was made by Leslie Burns Jr., church school superintendent.

CLAYTON SIGN OK'D

By Zoning Board. The Borough Zoning Board Thursday granted Clayton's permission to install a five-foot by seven inch "Clayton's" sign above its new addition, formerly occupied by the law offices of Albridge C. Smith. 3rd. The law office was adjacent too Clayton's on Palmer Square.

In a second request involving signs, the Zoning Board ruled that American Express could retain two illuminated signs in the windows of its new office at Nassau and Bank Streets but that it must conform to the allowable maximum area of ten square feet. The signs, one facing Nassau Street and one Bank, currently measure 15 square feet.

In addition, the Zoning Board ruled that two smaller illuminated signs, each about two feet square and facing Nassau Street, must be removed. The Board further ruled that the name "American Express" in black plastic on the front facade must also come down.

Albridge C. Smith, 3rd represented both Clayton's and American Express.

OF TIME AND MONEY

Library Hours; Library Gift. Mrs. Warren Kearny, Hun Road, has made a gift of stock to be used for construction of the new joint public library. The Board of Trustees, in making the announcement this week, expressed the trustees' thanks to Mrs. Kearny for her generous support.

The library will be closed from noon this Thursday until next Monday. It will also be closed from 6 p.m. New Years' Eve until Monday, January 4.

BRITISH WENT THAT WAY

Continentals at Their Heels. A pictorial map showing details of the 1777 Battle of Princeton will be dedicated at 11 a.m. Saturday, January 2, on the battlefield, southwest of Mercer Road

The date falls between the 188th anniversaries of the Battle of Trenton and the Battle of Princeton — two victories that turned the tide of the Revolutionary War in favor of the United States.

Commissioned by the Princeton Committee for the New Jersey Tercentenary, the map has been designed by J. Doran Williams of Morrisville, Pennsylvania, fired on ceramic tile and glazed for all-weather protection. It will be supported on a stone base.

Research for the map was done by John W. Shy of the Princeton University history department, and Mrs. Constance Greiff of the Princeton Historical Society. The map was tested for readibility on Members of the Princeton Committee for the New Jersey Tercentenary: J A Farrington, George R. Cook III and Donald L. Evans. Albert Neroni is executive director of the Mercer County Tercentenary unit.

There's This Guy Named Herzog . . .

Everybody's Christmas stocking will be bulging this year with Saul Bellow's novel, "Herzog." All four of TOWN TOPICS' book-sellers report that Mr. Bellow's—well, shall we call him "hero?"—is the top man of the season. Here's the way it goes:

NON-FICTION

"The Italians," Luigi Barzini (Public Library: "a sleeper—we didn't expect this one to go in Princeton.") achievement.

But all this costs money. And so I believe that every citizen of our community — whether a long-time resident or a new arrival — should recognize his responsibility to support the hospital and thus make possible the expansion so urgently needed if we are to meet the demands of our rapidly-growing community.

This means that we should get behind the current campaign to raise $3,500,000, the sum required to meet future needs. These needs are: the construction of a patient-care wing containing a modern maternity division and a new Department of Radiology; the expansion of service facilities; the enlargement of laboratories and, finally, the addition of 40 beds for all sections of the hospital.

The need is very great; surely no local cause is more deserving of unanimous public support.

Library Plans Need Study.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Support for the steps being taken by the community to build a public library building is being given by the League of Women Voters of the Princeton Community. The building should not only meet accepted standards for library service, but should also meet the particular needs of Princeton itself.

Our community services in this area, as in other areas, have been inadequate. There is vast competition for time and money these days, but the League approves of the priority presently being placed on the community's library needs.

Whether it is wise to build a building which may need expansion in five to 7 years, as Dr. Greenaway, the Library Consultant, believes, is a question that should have careful consideration. The League urges that the public be given every possible opportunity for full and open discussion of community planning before the final decisions are made.

SALLY FENTON
(Mrs. A. James Fenton, Jr.)

Survey of "Human Needs."

To the Editor of Town Topics:

The suggestion of Mr. Richard Conger, as reported last week, that "There are human needs in this community that should be explored," is a sound one, and Mr. Conger may be gratified to learn that such a survey is already under way. It is being financed by the Princeton Area United Community Fund and run by the Council of Community Services.

The purpose of the survey is to assess present needs and services not only in Princeton, but throughout the entire Fund area and to estimate future requirements in the fields of health, welfare and recreation.

To this end, a temporary Steering Committee has been set up, and Mrs. Harold Sprout has been appointed Survey Director. Questionnaires have been sent out to some 40 agencies throughout the area and panels of persons with special competence are being formed to evaluate them. Although local residents who are specialists in the various fields will be asked to participate as consultants, the committee has also decided to secure the services of the Institute of Community Studies, an organization with broad professional experience in such work, in order to assure sound procedures and unbiased conclusions.

During the next month, a Citizens' Survey Committee will supplant the temporary Steering Committee. The Survey Committee, which will have full control over the assessment and will be responsible for final recommendations, will be as widely representative as possible of all parts of the area and of different view-points.

In fact, if anyone wishes to suggest any person they think would be a particularly valuable member of the committee, they should write to Mrs. Harold Sprout of the Survey Headquarters, 4 Green Street, Princeton, or telephone her at 924-5871. (Mr. Coley of the United Fund, who was suggested by Mr. Conger, was one of the Iniators of this project and is giving it his full support). If a difficult timetable can be adhered to, the findings and recommendations of the Survey Committee will be made public in a final report in the Fall of 1965.

I'M A SCOUT!

Girls Welcomed. Five girls have been received into Littlebrook Girl Scout Troop 9, two have been received as transfers from out-of-town troops, and two have been received as Brownie "fly-ups."

The newcomers are Karen Appel, Kristina Pike, Andrea Rosenthal, Susan Roshwalb, Naeline Hargrave, Linda Mitchell, Barbara McCulloch, Betty Jane Blomeley and Ruth Gilbert. Mrs. McLeonard White is Troop Leader, Mrs. Richard Gilbert, assistant.

TO OFFER 60 PROGRAMS

For YMCA Winter Term. The YMCA will offer more than 60 programs for the winter term, beginning the first full week in January. The registration period will continue through Thursday, December 31.

For the youngest members, there will be a pre-school orientation program. Other activities for youngsters range from adventure clubs to swim instruction and outings.

Junior high and high school activities include instruction and competition in a full slate of sports, including basketball, swimming, gymnastics and wrestling. New participants can also enroll in horseback riding activities which are already in progress.

The selection for adults will be in three categories: sports and fitness, special interest clubs and aquatic activities. The special interest classes will range from oil painting to scuba diving. Registrations will be received daily from 9 until 9.

STUDY URGED

For Pre-School Program. Should Princeton schools have a program of pre-school training? Mrs. Edgar Gemmell, chairman of the volunteers committee of the Princeton Council of Community Services, suggested at last week's meeting of the Council's Executive Board, that such a program be studied as a possibility for Princeton.

The pre-school "enrichment program," she explained, is designed to aid children from non-English speaking families or environments where the motivation to learn is poor. The child who enters school ill-equipped is on the way to school failure, joblessness and "eventual defeat as an adult," she added.

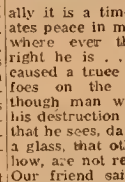
Person To Person



Cory S. Kemmler

A friend was talking about Christmas, how it is celebrated in every free country of the world, with slightly varying customs, but that basically it is a time which generates peace in men of good will where ever they are. How right he is . . . it has often caused a truce between bitter foes on the battlefield, as though man were pausing in his destruction to acknowledge that he sees, darkly, as through a glass, that other men, somehow, are not really his enemy. Our friend said that perhaps nations, or even groups, cannot find the answers; that they can be found only by each individual by himself, and that a starting point is in the way he relates himself to all other individuals and to God. We read something that might help us keep such an idea in mind: it's a thought worth repeating quite frequently, silently to ourselves: "Be kind, for everyone you meet is fighting a hard battle." A permanent spirit of good will, given out all year long, cannot get back anything but more good will, ever growing, and enduring as long as the giving lasts, which can be a whole lifetime. To you, our heartfelt good wishes! Kammler Buick-Pontiac Co., Route 206 opp. Princeton Airport, 921-2222.

ELECTRIC LIVING GUIDE

All rights reserved. R. F. Brigham & Co., Inc., New York.

FOREVER SUMMER

"Sure I can take a blast of icy air now and then . . . but on the ski slopes.

"At home I'm as demanding as a cranky millionaire. That's why we turned to electric heat. No nagging drafts, no hot spots, . .in fact no trouble at all. Just comfort a la carte." And the young lawyer who said that, it seems, was voicing the main reason for the unexpectedly large upswing to electric home heating systems.

"We had assumed naturally that the ever-lowering costs of electricity as fuel were proving a powerful attraction," said a utility company skokeman "but it seems the very excellence of electricity heating systems—and the unexcelled comfort they provide—is the real reason people are going for it.

"There are now over two million homes in the country with electrical heating. . .that's way ahead of expectations when you realize most of them are within the past three and a half years."

— Insulation Stressed —

By having engaged in dealer and consumer education the electrical heating industry as a whole finds itself now widely commended for pointing out what part of the job of providing livability at home is due to equipment and what part to construction.

"The challenge was all the greater" continues the utility spokesman," when it was realized we had—and knew we had—the only method that can deliver 100% heat right to a room.

"Other systems have—at the very best—a 20% loss in pipes, ducts and what have you. We knew ours was getting to the room. If the consumer wasn't getting all of it, in draft free comfort, then we knew faulty construction was to blame.

"So, people in the industry conferred with the experts on the precise amounts and types of insulation that would provide a 'tight house' and that's the way it's been working. The National Mineral Wood Association publishes precise standards.

"In any price range, totally electrically-heated homes enjoy the reputation of quality—because they deserve it," is a summation of the professional's evaluation.

— "Relaxed Living" —

Asked to give a summation from the consumer's point of view, the skiing lawyer smiled and said, "Well, let's face it, I'm really living better than any millionaire could have even a few years ago. Until this electrical heating was perfected there just wasn't anything earlier as good. That's strictly from the luxury-comfort point of view.

"Then there are always plenty of do-it-myself projects on the agenda without my adding furnace fussing, maintenance problems, things like this. This way just flip the switch, set temperature and relax and enjoy the great indoors. "Let it rain, let it snow. When I'm home, it's forever summer."

QUESTION BOX

Q. How long does it take electrical radiators to warm-up?

A. Electricity is instant. There's no wait. The warming starts the instant you flip the switch.

Q. Is it possible to heat an outdoor patio? What gave me the idea was one cold night I came out of a modernized Broadway theatre. Everybody under that marquee was basking but just beyond it people were shivering.

A. If you wanted it, yes. Consult the contractor who provided your home electrical heating system. The heat-the-outdoors equipment is also made by manufacturers of home heating equipment.

Q. What is the correct placement for a thermostat?

A. About five feet from the floor is the general practice for height. Other factors the experts take into consideration are:
- Do not place it in direct line with the door leading to the outdoors
- Do not place it where it will receive the direct rays of the sun
- Do not put it too close to the source of the room's heat.

Q. Are all electrical baseboards of a uniform size? Some at an airport looked big to me.

A. This covers a lot of ground. For residential use "standard baseboard" height is adhered to, and manufacturers provide a wide assortment of lengths, corner pieces, etc. providing unlimited freedom of selection to fit a given home's varying needs. Now, electrical heating is also widely used for commerical structures and public buildings. . .and though the principals are the same different sizes of equipment may be indicated. For example, the huge O'Hare Field in Chicago is entirely heated by electric and that means the terminal, the concourse buildings, the restaurant buildings and all connecting links. For some of the walkways, custom designed baseboards, nearly double the height of home-type were used. But then each floor to ceiling space is about the height of a two-story residence!

Q. How do I find out if a house with electrical heating is what you'd call "Gold Medallion."

A. Ask. If it is, the seller will be pretty proud of it, and most likely show you where the Mediallion has been tacked. Maybe it's been incorporated into a door knocker, or mailbox. But the most important thing, if you're buying, is to get the actual certificate. It should be turned over to you with the deed.
